ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE
AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER
(FOR THE COUNTRY.)
Is published regularly on TUESDAYS,
THURSDAYS and SATURDAYS, at $6 per annum—payable in advance.

Miscellaneous Items.

In various newspapers we read that in the year 1851 the late Empress of France (then Eugenie Marie de Guzman) would have married, in Paris, young Wm. C. Rives, son of the then American minister, only one "Aunt Judy Rives," a Virginia matron, interfered and broke off the match, the Countess being "too fast for old Virginia views of social society." But the Boston Courier declares that there "is no foundation whatever" for the story.

The steamship Crescent City, from New Orleans, reports that on October 12th, in the Gulf of Florida, she passed quantities of wrecked material all day, consisting of bulwarks, spars, deck planks, and a portion of a water logged hull; five miles south of Cape Florida saw a ship ashore, no wreckers about, but apparently just gone on; twelve miles north of Cape Florida saw a schooner on the beach.

Schwartz, of Breslau, gives a simple method whereby water may be run through lead pipes without becoming poisoned. The pipes are filled with a warm, concentrated solution of sulphide of potassium and thus left for about fifteen minutes, when an insoluble sulphide of lead will be formed within, and line the pipe.

The twenty-second annual report of the Chamber of Commerce of Cincinnati shows a large increase in the commerce of the city as compared with the previous year. The total value of the trading articles imported amounts to $313,000,000, being $33,000,000 increase over last year.

A special to the Telegram from Key West, dated 17th, says that the steamers Cuba and Gulf Stream were four days getting to the wharf. The Cuba reports having felt the hurricane seventy miles out. The naval squadron and monitors all safe.

The most liberal decision ever made at the internal revenue bureau is that a widow need not pay for a new license on the death of her husband if she continues a trade! That her husband buys and pays for shall not be taken from the widow at his death!!

The island of St. Lucia, West Indies, is badly infested with snakes. The government was lately notified that 10,000 had been destroyed in six months following the offer of a reward for their destruction, and that only $50 out of the grant therefor of $300 remained.

Dr. Samuel Dickens, the late male survivor of the Boston Dickens vendetta, in which so many of both families lost their lives, was killed by the accidental discharge of his gun while driving in his buggy near Raleigh, Tennessee, on Wednesday last.

All the leading hotels and restaurants in New York have advanced the price of champagne, owing to the growing scarcity of that luxury in that market, as a result of the European war. The domestic manufacturers no doubt will come to the rescue.

Captain General De Rodas of Cuba has issued an order liberating 2,000 apprenticed negroes captured from slaves in 1855, 1856, 1857. The French mail steamer Darien has been lost fifteen miles to the windward of Guatanamo. All hands were saved.

A letter which we have from Nevada City, Colorado, of the 8th inst., informs us that Mr. Elijah S. Fryer, of Baltimore, who was supposed to have been killed by Indians a short time since, is still alive.

The unpleasant taste of Quinine is entirely destroyed by taking it in a weak solution of licorice, formed by dissolving the latter in water or by merely letting the licorice dissolve in the mouth of the patient.

German physicians have found a tincture of the leaves of the Australian gum tree to be a remedy for intermittent fever. Dr. Lorinser gave it to fifty-three patients, of whom forty-three were completely cured.

At a recent meeting of the San Francisco Academy of Sciences, one of the members exhibited specimens of animals which had been preserved without change by the use of carbolic acid.

The last decree of the Empress, issued at the Palace of St. Cloud, was to the effect that no untrained child be admitted upon any visitors during the summer season.

The most stylish weddings to take place this winter are to be managed in the simplest and plainest manner, with no bridesmaids, a roomsmen or ushers, and no reception.

During a game of base ball in Elizabeth, N. J., on Saturday, Edward Cory had one of his eyes knocked out by a blow from a club which an outsider was carelessly handling.

They keep up running against time on the Mississippi river, and will probably do so until a steamboat load of passengers shall find themselves from time into eternity.

W. J. Clarke, one of the victims of the National Hotel poisoning at Washington thirteen years ago, recently died at Indianapolis.

THE HORRIBLE ATTACK made by a Siberian bloodhound upon two serving-women on Staten Island was briefly mentioned by telegraph. It seems the two girls were reclining on the grass in front of Mr. Hasseburg's villa, at New Brighton, when suddenly, without any warning or provocation, the bloodhound ran toward the younger, Bessie McNulty, who, having always feared him, retreated. The bloodhound followed the fiercest desperation, and with lowered head protruding tongue and flashing eyes dashed after her. Shrieking with terror she ran away, springing in her retreat over the terrace—a distance of some six feet. Before she touched the ground, the hideous beast had leaped upon her, and buried his long like teeth in her shoulder and back. Both rolled over, the dog snarling and biting, and she struggling and screaming in a mortal terror. The Newfoundland dog, at each attempt of the bloodhound, sprang upon him, and seizing him by the neck drew him away, the blood snarling and snapping in return, but not biting hard. The other girl added her screams to a terrible chorus, and, rushing into the house, seized a dipper of water, and, returning, immediately dashed it upon the angry brute—a method she frequently had used on previous occasions to drive him away. She thus managed to release Bessie and get her into the house. About twenty deep wounds were found upon the arm, breast, thigh and knee of Bessie McNulty, and several upon the arm and thighs of her companion, Ellen O'Neil. Both the girls are in a precarious condition.
